“Food Bytes” Section Added to Health Department Website

Beginning in July 2015, the Moore County Health Department’s website will host a new feature called “Food Bytes--Restaurant Rules Review”. Each month, the Food Bytes section will highlight a different segment of the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services’ Rules Governing Food Establishments along with the 2009 Food Code by providing a practical explanation of selected individual rules.

Food Bytes is an effort directed by the Health Department’s Environmental Health division to provide a better understanding of the rules to consumers as well as restaurant owners/managers.

The Food Bytes feature can be found by visiting the Moore County Health Department website at www.moorecountync.gov/health.
